Equal Rights To Awards to the The December 1986 Class of Columbia University School of Nursing.

Hey, I've Been There Award
To The Student who best expresses real-world mentality during ideal-world class discussions .....To Clidean Acosta

Bread and Roses Award
To the student whose patient advocacy includes the fight for not only rights but also the best of everything ..... To Monica Salgado

Longevity Award
To the studnet who has been through it . . . and through it . . . the longest and has hung in there to graduate ..... To Heidi von Drateln

Activity Masked by Quiet Nature Award
To the student who has been quietly active in the attempt to move and shake the nursing profession. Who would have thought this student would say at The Lenox Hill Hospital student/Preceptor pow-wow "Why should M.D.'s treat patients with cabbage surgery who won't comply with dietary and non-smoking regimens?"....To Carolyn Schauer

Broadcaster Award
To the student who best disseminates information and who best scoops it out to begin with .....To Ardis DeCamp

What's It All About Award
To the student who insists on having textbooks deciphered into common sense....To Susan Shackelford

Kick The Habit Award
To the student of the cloth who best integrates among the lay people causing them to forget most of the time that she took the vows — not to say we haven't seen her fit to say a few more a time or two.....To Cathy Sheehan

Culture Award
To the student who makes the most effort to educate her classmates about the norms and mores of a particular cultural group. I just can't remember which one it was.....To Stephanie Bellin

Wanderlust Award
To the student who with feet firmly planted on the ground, still itches to be on the road. Visiting Nurse perhaps? ..... To Liz Noback

Still Waters Run Deep Award
To the student who quietly performs in an exemplary manner and blushes at the thought of a compliment.....to Michelle Kaye

Best Performance in a Supporting Role
To the spouses who have lived through care plans, physical assessment (did they ever capture your kidney?), Linda and Mimi and graduation plans .To Josh Kaye and Ray Carroll

Sympathomimetic Award
To the student who manages to play the roles of wife and mother, volunteer ambulance worker, church organ player, family reunion planner, work-study student and God knows what else while completing the intense, condensed 16-month program with flying colors. Tell us you were on speed Meg! .....To Meg Casper

Go Ahead Surprise Me Award
To the student with the most enthusiasm for new information. Wow! .. To Marie Bedard

Verbal Incontinence Award
To the student who just can't keep it in..... To Mary Lawrence Hicks

Best Performance in a Hierarchial Role
To the student who most convincingly portrays management positions in role-playing situations to Elsa Desta, also known as "ultra" for her affinity with that group in the power game.

CHALLENGE...

THAT'S WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT AT NEW YORK CITY'S COLUMBIA-PRESBYTERIAN MEDICAL CENTER

Finally, the day you've worked so hard to reach has arrived, the day your nursing career actually begins. Now to apply—and expand upon—all you've learned.

There's no better place to stretch mind and skills to their fullest than The Presbyterian Hospital at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

Here you'll discover that education is a way of life—with every shift, day or night, a rewarding learning experience. And you'll find yourself working with cases more challenging, more diverse than any you could have imagined.

If you're a career-oriented nurse who wants to grow, to experience all you possibly can in a stimulating teaching-learning-doing environment, then this world-renowned medical center is for you.

Along with unique professional challenges, Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center offers such practical personal benefits as...

- A comprehensive 6–8 week orientation program with the guidance of a master-degree instructor, but with emphasis on personal self-direction.
- A Role Transformation Program to help you make the transition from academic life to working life.
- 12 specialty areas, many open to new graduates.
- Inservice education on all shifts.
- Continuing education programs with generous tuition reimbursement.
- Housing assistance and help with your relocation expenses.
- All the cultural and social activities found only in the world's most exciting city.

To discuss your future...call Sonja Lofgren or Margaret Summers at (212) 305-7878. Outside N.Y. State, call toll-free: 1-800-225-6665.
